The Bookwright

Unleashing the Book Inside You

Tom Evans - The BookWright

Tom is an author and poet who mentors other authors in how to unleash the books inside themselves.

He has published an inspiring trilogy of meditative poetic stories called '100 Years of Ermintrude' and two interactive ebooks for writers. He is currently finishing a new novel which explores cutting-edge thinking into consciousness, evolution and cosmology.

In addition to his innate talent as a creative writer, his 30 year career in the broadcasting and Internet industries has given him considerable commercial acumen and an understanding of advanced technologies.

He has a natural talent for making these simple to understand and empowering skills for others. He is passionate about convergence which is why his first book came out as an ebook, audio & video for iPod and a printed book pretty much at the same time.

Using a set of simple, elegant and thought-provoking techniques, Tom can transform your world view forever and help unleash the creativity inside you.

Every budding author should contact Tom for help in tuning in to their intuition and sharpening their vision. He works with authors collectively in groups or on a 1-2-1 basis anywhere in the world.
